VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

If we were asked to give a very simple definition of foreign policy we might describe it as getting along with our neighbors. The definition may be simple, but the attempt to get along is determined not only by our own desires but by the wishes of those neighbors also. And it is easy to lose sight of that latter point. The proposed Atlantic Alliance is a case in point. Last week's debate in congress indicated that our own representatives were not quite sure where our policy might take us. Or perhaps they had not realized how far we might have to go. Even assuming that we do decide, the issue has by no means then been resolved. For there are other nations to consider, and they are obliged to regard the Alliance on the European viewpoint, one which we sometimes fail to appreciate.

Why Any Doubts About the Pact?

From where they stand, the proposed Atlantic Alliance has a different aspect. In fact each nation sees it differently, depending upon its own particular interest and geographical location. For we must remember that the proposed pact is not merely a gift from the United States bestowed in kindly fashion upon Europe. It is for our own protection as much as for assistance to others. It is of mutual concern, and all interests must be taken into consideration. And other nations have the right to ask what they are letting themselves in for if

Red Cross Plans Annual Fund Drive

Next week, on Mar. 1, Red Cross month begins. Andover chapter officers and volunteer workers and their executive secretary, Mrs. Ellen McCollum, don't think quite that way, for opportunities to be of service arise all through the year and they try to answer every call—whether it be for supplies, for money, for transportation, or information or service.

All year round people are on the receiving end of the services Red Cross is geared to provide, but only once a year Red Cross asks the public to give in return. The money necessary to implement its services must come from the people; the extent of its power to serve will of necessity be governed by the amount the people contribute to its support.

P.H.S. Hoopsters Close Fine Season

The Punchard High school basketball team closed a successful season Monday night with a 46-33 victory over Methuen at the local gym. The Jayvee team kept up the pace by edging the Methuen Jayvees, 20-17.

The High school team, coached by Kenneth K. McKiniry has completed a fine record for the season. The Punchard "Swish Kids" have won 15 of the 17 games played. The only two setbacks were by Central Catholic, and both were nip-and-tuck battles up to the last whistle. The Jayvees won 7 and lost 9 for their season's record.

The Blue and Gold hoopsters rolled up 900 points, an average of 53 per game, while keeping their opponents to 554, or an average of 32.5 a game.

Football Season Financial Success

The successful football season enjoyed by Pynchard High school in 1948 is reflected in the financial statement issued by James H. Hart, faculty manager, showing a cash balance of $597.70 at the end of the season.

Total receipts from the games amounted to $5,454.54; expenses totaled $5,012.70, leaving an excess of $441.84 which, with a cash balance of $155.86 at the start of the season made up the total of $597.70. Chief among the disbursements was $1,410.08 for equipment over and above the purchases for the association made by the Boosters' day committee. There was also an expense of $400 for reconditioning equipment.

Other large items shown on the statement were: U. S. tax, $839.26; guarantees and share of gate to other schools, $783.27; officials, $301; police, $238; transportation, $137.

The largest receipts came from the Methuen game, $2,224.31; the next from the Johnson game, $1,643.83. Next year the Methuen game will be away and, as Mr. Hart points out, this was the "fat" year and next year will be the "lean."

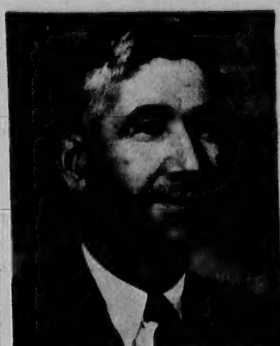

The complete statement is as follows:

Although the size of the revenue derived from sports is obvious to the public, it is illuminating to see the concealed side of the picture—the expenses involved. As this report is read, it must be further remembered that last year was an unusually successful season, with a winning team, and with a Methuen game that represented probably the largest single gate that Pynchard has ever had. (Thanks to the Boosters). Next year the Methuen game is away and no revenue will be derived. In short, financially this was the "fat" year and next year will be the "lean."

Special sources of income such as concessions and programs are not shown, because the tonic concession continues on into the basketball season and the returns are not complete as yet. However, it is safe to guess that not much over three hundred dollars will be obtained by these means. Since basketball about pays for itself, (judged by recent years) the cash balance from the football season plus the probable income from concessions should give the Pynchard Athletic Association a working balance of about nine hundred dollars this spring. Off hand this sounds

ALEXANDER H. HENDERSON

Alexander H. Henderson, is a candidate for the board of public works in the coming town election, Monday, March 7.

He was born in Andover and attended the local public schools, graduating from Pynchard High. Later he attended Bates college, after which he joined his father, the late George M. Henderson, in the contracting business. This he carried on for several years after his father's death.

Mr. Henderson now carries on his own business and is a well-known local builder, employing several men the year round. His qualifications offered are based on his many years of experience as a contractor and builder and his proven ability to get along with men.

He has been an active member of Andover grange for over twenty years and is at present serving his second term as master of this grange. He is also a member of Friendship Pomona and Massachusetts State grange as well as being a member of the Mens' Brotherhood of the West Parish church.

Mr. Henderson is married and lives on Argilla rd., where he has resided for the past years.

pretty good, but let us look ahead a bit further. Baseball and track (which have no income) have a combined average cost of about $450. This still leaves a favorable balance of, let us say, about $450. Even this balance, however, is practically wiped out by the usual bill of about $400 annually expended for cleansing and reconditioning the used athletic equipment.

The foregoing paragraph shows some of the difficulty encountered in running a self-sufficient adequately-equipped sports program in a community the size of Andover. Financially, it seems that a sports program bears a close relationship to business; as the structure becomes larger, there tends to be a greater favorable gap between increased costs of operation and increased revenue. In Andover, we are just about at the "break-even" point—or even somewhat below it. Smaller communities cannot even do that and in their case, either town money must be appropriated or sports dropped.

This financial statement should also make clear the need and the very great contribution of the Boosters' day committee. So that the boys of Andover might have the best, this group of public-spirited men raised and have spent $2,130.63 on equipment to date (this is over and above the $1,410.08 spent by the Pynchard A. A.). As we all know, these men gave most liberal

HOWARD S. ELDRIDGE

Howard S. Eldredge, 22 Cuba st., announces that he is a candidate for election to one of the two terms for three years on the board of public works at the annual March elections.

Born in Harwich and educated there and in the Reading schools, he received valuable training and experience in construction work while working with his father on road construction jobs throughout Middlesex and Essex counties.

A resident of Andover for the past 18 years where he is in industrial and residential painting, he served with the Marines in the last war.

He is a member of St. Matthew's lodge, A.F. & A.M., the Andover Square and Compass club, and the Andover Sportsman club.

ly of their time, their interest, and their energy. To single out some of these for the special thanks that they richly deserve might be unfair to others not mentioned. In addition, the response of the general public and the merchants to the fund-raising efforts of the Boosters committee was most gratifying. In behalf of the boys and girls of Pynchard, we most sincerely thank the Boosters and the many others who also contributed so generously.

Women Sponsor Day of Prayer

The seventh observance in Andover of the World Day of Prayer is to be held in the chapel of Phillips academy on March 4, the first Friday in Lent, at 3 p. m. The Andover Council of Church Women, made up of representatives of eight churches, is the sponsor of the service, with Mrs. Oswald Tower as chairman for the day. This unique prayer service, held on the same date for more than a quarter of a century, over the United States and Canada, became in 1927 world-wide, with a uniform program, translated into over 1000 dialects. An account of its progress and special features will be broadcast over station WCCM, 800, at the "Accent on Andover" hour, at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, March 3, the day preceding the day of prayer.

Station WCCM wishes to announce a second broadcast, on the day itself, a devotional period, with Mrs. Ralph D. York and Mrs. Hans Sidon in charge, representing the Association of Ministers' Wives of Lawrence. For the hour of this broadcast see a later issue.

The chapel of Phillips academy will be open Friday, the 4th, from 10 o'clock in the morning on, for private prayer.

The offering for the day will be divided between home and foreign needs as follows: one-half for work among the share-cropper populations of thirteen states; one-half for Christian colleges in India and Japan.

The Andover Council of Church Women is made up of the following:

Academy Chapel: Mrs. A. Graham Baldwin, Mrs. Oswald Tower.

Ballardvale Methodist: Mrs. George Brown.

Ballardvale Union Congregational: Mrs. Elizabeth Curtis, Mrs. Frank Green, Mrs. Philip Kelsey.

Baptist church: Mrs. Wendell Bailey, Mrs. Florence Dennison, Mrs. J. S. Billington, Mrs. Arthur Smith.

Christ church: Mrs. Frederick Smith.

Free church: Mrs. William Burnham, Mrs. William Orr, Mrs. Leslie Christison, Mrs. Levering Reynolds, Jr.

South church: Mrs. C. E. Buchan, Mrs. Wilfred Lord, Miss Fannie E. Davis, Pres., Mrs. Walter Mondale, Mrs. Frederick B. Noss.

West church: Mrs. John Gaskill, Mrs. Kenneth Penwell, Mrs. Robert Marland, Mrs. Charles Sparks.

Central St. Bridge Plans Approved

The board of public works has received approval of the state bridge commission on the plans and design of the new Central street bridge. Plans and bids have been forwarded to the Finance commission for its approval before the contract is awarded.

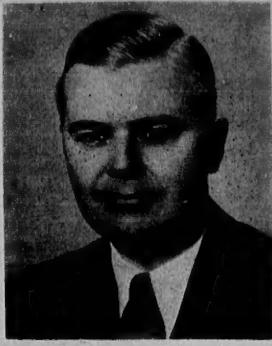

As soon as the board awards the contract the steel will be ordered for the structure for which $15,000 was appropriated at the special town meeting in December.

Work on the bridge is expected to be started in May, Sidney P. White, chairman of the board announced, and completed before July 1.

At Monday's meeting of the board the regular monthly bills and payrolls were approved.

A request to abate the sewer assessment in two places on Chestnut street was received from George R. Abbott and taken under advisement.

Petition for a street light on Highland road was also received.

WALTER E. MONDALE

Eleven years experience as an employee in the roadbuilding machinery industry and a general business and professional background in insurance, banking, business economics and law are the special qualifications offered by Attorney Mondale for a post on the board of public works. Careful tutelage by his father, owner of the Mondale Machinery Co., Inc., included every phase of the work including actual roadbuilding experience. This was followed by employment with a nationally-known tractor company.

Attorney Mondale received his A. B. degree from Stanford university and was graduated in law at Boston college. His ability to win the enthusiastic cooperation of fellow workers in carrying out programs of community interest and benefit has been demonstrated to the people of Andover through his activities in a number of community projects.

Attorney Mondale served Andover for four years as chairman of its successful Infantile Paralysis fund drives and co-chairman of a successful Red Cross drive. As chairman, he led Andover to a fine showing in the drive for clothing for war-devastated persons in Europe. He maintains an active membership in the Andover Service club, Wiwanis club, Y's Men's club, and the Lawrence Bar association.

Attorney Mondale lives at 6 Florence street with his wife and their two children.

HOME ENTERED

The home of John L. Fallon, 3 Princeton rd., Shawshen Village, was ransacked between 4 p. m. Saturday and 2 p. m. Sunday, Feb. 20. Entrance was gained by breaking the glass over the lock in the kitchen door. The owner reported nothing was missing.

present the chaplain of the state prison in Charlestown. Educated at Tufts college and the Episcopal Theological school, Mr. Kellet has been active in various ways with the problem of the more unfortunate members of society ever since his active ministry began. In the course of his address he will undoubtedly mention the Dr. Miriam Van Waters case, which is at present disturbing so many people. After his chapel address, he will lead a discussion on "Prisons and Reformation" in the church seminar.

Mrs. Walter Tong, a missionary of the American board, will be the leader of the youth seminar this Sunday. Mrs. Tong could tell a story of hardship and adventure, for she spent two years in the hands of the Japanese army at Baguio in the Philippine Islands during the past war, with her three children, later being united with her husband, the Rev. Walter Tong, and being transferred to Bilbid prison in Manila. However, she likes best to tell of the spirit of the Philippine Christians during the war and of the creative years of her service on mindanao island before Pearl Harbor.

The bible seminar will be led by Dr. Hans Sidon of Lawrence, who led the same group very successfully last year. He will speak on the topic: "The Mirror of Life."

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

FOR ALL OF THIS WE HAVE TO PAY!

Back in the "gay" 90's there was a comic opera — or, perhaps, a musical comedy — which was the story of Columbus, aided by Isabella, Queen of Spain, discovering America. The play was called "1942." The part of Isabella was one of the important ones, and she was pictured as a rich queen, fond of the best kind of living.

She sang one song in which she said:

"I dote on war, I have a corps
Of soldiers brave,
The pomp and show of peace also
I likewise crave."

And at this point the chorus, presumably made up of taxpayers, chimed:

"In confidence we would say,
For all of this we have to pay."

And times are no different today. Year after year we are spending more and more money. Great wars come, and we spend frantically, but are assured that when the nation is at war we've got to spend. When the war is over, we are reminded, things will get back to normal!

But, do they?

Isn't it a fact that we are paying more now, in a time of peace, than we ever paid before? And isn't it true that those in the government seem to think of only one thing — how to raise more money?

Why not have a good, honest-to-goodness attempt at CUTTING expenses? This is not a criticism of conditions in Andover; it is a criticism of conditions that are country-wide!

When taxes are increased we (because we are all taxpayers) should sing the above chant:

"In confidence we would say,
For all of this we have to pay."

And we should let these who want to increase taxes, know that we are not in sympathy with their efforts!

* * * * *

"THE BETTER WE PRODUCE—"

A poster that may currently be seen on billboards has a picture of Uncle Sam, rolling up his sleeves, and getting ready to work with some tools he has with him. He remarks, "The better we produce, the better we live."

It is a striking picture, and one that is worthy of a lot of consideration. It is worthy of consideration because it is so true. It applies to every man and woman who works — in mill or factory, in office or shop, on the farm, or anywhere else. We all have a hand in the big job of production, and unless we all do our jobs, the whole nation is going to suffer.

Consider the situation in a small factory. Suppose a dozen people work there. If all 12 do the work that is theirs to do, the factory is bound to be successful. But if one, or two, only do part of the jobs expected of them the production of the entire plant falls off. It may not fall off a great deal, but every little bit of falling off detracts from perfection.

Every factory's success helps to spell the success of the nation, because the success of every factory is what helps to make the nation prosper. If one factory lags, then the nation lags by just that much. And if a lot of factories lag just a little, the aggregate is bound to be felt.

There is a lot of common sense in that remark: "The better we produce, the better we live."

U. S. Morally Bound To South America

Support for the Alliance by Robert Taft recently is to many Europeans not much of an endorsement. In fact his stand does nothing to clear the confusion arising from last week's debate. At least, not so far. He is said to support a North Atlantic treaty similar to the Western Hemisphere defense pact signed at Rio de Janeiro in 1947, an attempt to secure our southern flank. But while the wording of that pact is high-sounding, the anticipated action is shrouded in doubt. Agreeing that an armed attack by any state against an American state shall be considered as an attack against all American states, the contracting nations undertake to assist in meeting the attack. But having so agreed in common, each nation then goes its own independent way by declaring that it "may determine the immediate measures which it may individually take." The binding force is clearly only moral. However, it could be confidently assumed that the United States would act unhesitatingly in the event of foreign aggression South America.

But Is It To Europe?

But is it so certain that the United States would go even to the extent of binding itself morally to active defense of an Atlantic alliance that stretched as far as to Norway. Even if it did so bind itself, the Norwegians have a right to ask whether we mean immediate active defense of Norway or a promise to liberate her at the end of a war. And while she asks herself that she must have in mind the fate of Poland. Great Britain's declaration of war against Germany in 1939 was in effect a promise to liberate Poland eventually. Her ability to do so was tempered by practical considerations outside her own control. Perhaps this is why Norway hesitates. There's obviously some strong reason why she does not immediately and unhesitatingly cast in her lot with us.

Norway As Strategic Base

She can probably fully understand United States' wishes to get her into the pact. Military planners would be unrealistic if they did not realize what Norway would mean as an ally in war, provided she could be used before the enemy occupied her. A perfect base for submarines, Norway in Russian hands would mean devastating attacks upon vital American supplies to Europe. In American hands she would bring Russia dangerously close to United States forces. Norway realizes fully these points. She probably hesitates because she feels, as do other Europeans, that our very offer can provoke Russian action. And for that very reason Sweden has flatly refused to join the Alliance.

Sweden Must Remain Neutral?

If Sweden were asked to defend her determination to make no alliances with the West, not even with a Norway as a member of the Atlantic Alliance, her answer would not be difficult to appreciate. The greatest unknown, she would say, is not the wording of the pact or the question of American action. The greatest uncertainty is what Russia would or would not do. American foreign policy may be determined, not by the United States but by Russia. Sweden may be serving the cause of peace by remaining completely neutral. And there is an argument. Moscow dislikes even a Scandinavian neutrality pact; it certainly fears the Atlantic Alliance. If Sweden should join the alliance then Russian fears would almost certainly result in action. Why? There's Finland to consider. So far that country has not carried out its treaty promises to Russia. She has not built a railroad to the Swedish frontier, or rebuilt frontier bridges or repaired roads. And so far Russia has not insisted upon this treaty clause. Without these repairs and projects Russia cannot move an army easily into Sweden. But the Swedes are convinced that if they tied in with Western Europe and the United States, then Russia would undoubtedly move.

The dilemma confronting the United States would be serious indeed. Would we go to Sweden's assistance, with or without any alliance? Would our moral obligation

By PHILIP K. ALLEN

Since the registry of motor vehicles is concerned with the enforcement of the law, it might be well to examine the accident record of the Commonwealth during the last year. It must be pointed out that in Massachusetts only those accidents occurring on public highways which result in bodily injury are reportable to the state. This means that local crashes with damage to either vehicle only are handled locally.

During the year 1948 there were almost 27,000 accidents which were reported to the state. The total number of persons injured in these accidents was approximately 42,000, of which considerably less than 500 were deaths.

An interesting side light on legal technicality is the fact that in Massachusetts, if the injury incurred by the accident results in death within six months after the accident occurred and an affidavit to this effect is signed by the medical examiner or doctor, then the accident is deemed to be the principal cause of death. If, on the other hand, the death occurs more than six months after the accident even though the same conditions obtain, it is not considered a motor vehicle death but death from an undetermined cause.

One of the perennial problems that face the legislature of Massachusetts is the question of rates of automobile insurance. At the present moment the insurance rate of a community is based upon the claims paid on accidents involving cars principally garaged in that area. This insurance rate is further based on an average of the 5 years accident experience of these cars and allows a lag of one completed year. In other words, the rates for 1949 being set in 1948, with the last completed year being 1947, are, therefore, based upon the five year experience of 1942 through 1946.

An incomplete record for the year 1948 shows that some 370 adults and 74 children lost their lives in Massachusetts in motor vehicle traffic accidents. Of these, 111 were operating a vehicle, 102 were passengers, 219 were pedestrians, and 12 are classed as miscellaneous.

Statistics show that since 1929 there has been a steady reduction in the number of deaths per 100,000,000 miles of travel on Massachusetts highways. From 1929 when there were 13.013 deaths per 100,000,000 miles, the number has been reduced to 4.104 per 100,000,000 miles in 1948. This is a creditable record since there has obviously been a tremendous increase in miles per vehicle, but it also serves as a warning that the operation of a motor vehicle at the speed that the modern automobiles move is an extremely hazardous occupation for the driver, or for his passengers or for persons who are walking on the highway.

What Massachusetts is doing about safety and driver training will be discussed next week.

so bind us? Would our long-range interests compel us to? And the Norwegians must now be debating the same questions. Is Norway safer outside or inside the alliance? Perhaps more significant, is Europe safer if Norway remains neutral? The debate in congress cannot ignore these difficult points. We are facing a wily opponent. And every step must be deliberately calculated. Too little commitment may encourage Russia to do whatever she wishes; too much may force her to take what she considers measures of self-protection. Our own intentions cannot be the sole guide of our actions. Foreign policy is by no means a one-way enterprise.

WILLIAM F. BARRON SR.

A resident of Andover for the past 33 years, William F. Barron has observed many changes in the town's growth. He conducts a business at a location on Haggetts Pond road that once was the scene of many recreational activities. Known as the old Bellevue picnic ground, the spot was the mecca of thousands years ago when numerous outings were conducted by Andover and Lawrence organizations. The old Boston & Lowell railroad ran right along where Mr. Barron's filling station stands today. The road was discontinued when electric cars opened up other recreational spots. Baileys grove, another picnic area off Lowell street, is nearby.

Born at Woodside, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, Mr. Barron came to this country at an early age, was educated in the Lawrence public schools and Cannon's Commercial college. Since taking up his residence in Andover 33 years ago he has been active in town affairs, having served two three-year terms on the Board of Public Works and being one of the members of the committee that succeeded in getting a playground for the West Center school. He also retains considerable interest in fraternal affairs through his membership in St. Matthew's lodge, A.F. & A.M., the Andover Grange, the Square & Compass club, and the West Parish Brotherhood.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

DO YOU KNOW THAT THE... state housing board records show that between 12,000 and 15,000 low-rent dwelling units for veterans will be started during 1949 in Massachusetts under the state aid plan... Analysis of more than 4,500 units for which financial assistance contracts already have been signed by 22 cities and 5 towns shows that 45% will be masonry: brick or cinder block or steel with brick, 21% brick veneer over wood, and 34% of wood frame construction... More than 1,400 veterans' dwellings were started during 1948... Summer tunnel last year served a traffic of 8,754,545 motor vehicles, 6,383 more than in 1947... Designers of the Mystic river two-level bridge now under construction saved at least $150,000 by placing the 14 toll booths at the middle of the bridge instead of taking expensive land at either end... Although the dollar value of retail sales in Massachusetts during December was 2.5% larger than a year ago, the number of wage earners employed in the stores was 2% less than in December, a year ago... At the close of 1948 there were 87,518 disabled veterans of all wars in Massachusetts, whose compensation and pensions totaled $4,115,106 a month... In addition, the monthly payments to dependents of deceased veterans amounted to about $1,000,000... Town of Rowley is preparing a zoning bylaw for presentation at its next town meeting.

YOUR TAX REFUND

Want a prompt refund on your income tax?

Well, just bear in mind one slight change in the U. S. income tax law this year: the withholding slip (Form W-2) may NOT be used as an income tax return, but it MUST be attached to either the forms 1040A or 1040 as evidence of the tax withheld.

More than 1,000 wage slips (Form W-2) are being mailed daily to the internal revenue office as tax returns. "These statements do not constitute a proper return," says Collector Denis W. Delaney, "and cannot be processed for a refund until either the form 1040A or 1040 is properly prepared and filed."

In such cases, the collector said, months may elapse in correspondence with the taxpayers before refunds can be made.

All returns should be legibly written, or printed, and signed by the taxpayer. On joint returns both husband and wife must sign. Help Uncle Sam help you.

Invite Candidates To Attend Meeting

Tuesday evening, March 1st, the League of Women Voters will hold a meeting at Williams hall, Phillips st., to introduce the candidates for town offices. Coffee will be served at 7:30 p. m.

At 8 p. m., the candidates will speak briefly. Roy Hardy will then lead a discussion of the town warrant. Good government throughout the United States starts at the town level.

Monday, March 7th is election day in Andover. The league feels that it is very important that everyone should vote and know for whom he is voting. The March 1 meeting provides an opportunity to meet the candidates and learn their qualifications. All residents of Andover are cordially invited to attend.

Community Orchestra To Start Rehearsals

Next week the Andover Community orchestra, under the direction of George Brown, will begin rehearsals for its spring concert, to be held in the High School auditorium, April 24. A new type of program, designed to appeal to an audience of widely varying tastes and interests, is being planned, and will be announced later.

Although the orchestra's activities are centered in Andover, a large number of its players come from Lawrence, North Andover and Haverhill.

THE WETHERVANE

Four major factors dominate the trend in business outlook during the early part of 1949, reports Ellsworth W. Bell, extension economist at the University of Massachusetts. These are (1) The actual amount of defense and foreign aid expenditures by our government. (2) The rate of private capital expenditures. (3) Private and public construction. (4) The outcome of the impending demands for a "fourth round" of wage increases.

of its board of officers and general committees the meetings are regularly featured by excellent attendance and interesting speakers.

At tonight's meeting Miss Doris Letourneau of Lawrence, who reached the national finals in the American Legion oratorical contest two years ago, will appear in a program of readings for which she has become noted.

The club is now making a study, through a sub committee, of activities that it might take up so that it may become more of a "service" club to the town than ever before. The ideas advanced will be discussed at a future meeting when it is expected that one or more plans will be accepted for club sponsorship.

An excellent indication of the club's vigor may be obtained by noting that 27 new members have joined since the current season opened last September. They are: Edward R. Lawson, 51 Maple meeting held last Dec. 23. At that meeting the town voted to amend the zoning laws to allow construction of row housing in the area selected by the Andover authority.

Veterans' Housing Plans Approved

Approval of the state board indicates its acceptance of all the preliminary steps completed by the local board comprising Atty. Fredric S. O'Brien, chairman; Ernest Hall, Atty. Charles G. Hatch, Winthrop Newcomb and Stanley F. Swanton, and approval of the plans it prepared with Mr. Goodwin.

Members of the authority when questioned, said that they could not have proceeded at such speed had it not been for the excellent cooperation of the officials and voters of the town.

The plans which they presented also meet with the approval of a large number of veterans who attended a special meeting in the American Legion rooms last December to discuss the progress made by the board and their own housing problems.

Legion Opens Drive For Resuscitator

Andover post, 8, American Legion, is sponsoring the purchase of a new, modern resuscitator for the town and at a recent meeting voted $50 to start off a drive for $350 more to be raised by public subscription.

Back in 1939 the Legion gave such an instrument which since has been operated for the citizens of the town by the fire department.

The old resuscitator, now obsolete, has been instrumental in saving many lives, members of the fire department point out. The new model, now on display in a show window of the Dalton pharmacy, has many improvements on the old and is much more effective. It is a triple unit, having a resuscitator, an inhalator and an aspirator (the latter attachment not being on the old) and can be used on two persons at the same time.

It also has another feature in that it is much more compact than the old one, is lighter and yet has more uses.

To get the drive underway Commander Kenneth L. Sherman has appointed Albert Cole, Jr., member of the fire department, as chairman of the committee. Mr. Cole, who saw service for 2½ years with the 112th Cavalry Combat team in the Pacific area, was wounded in the Luzon campaign. He was chairman of the Firemen's Ball committee last fall when a most successful event was conducted for the relief association.

Serving with him on the committee are: Past Commander Vincent F. Stulgis, Past Commander Arthur T. Coleman, Commander Sherman, Selectman Roy E. Hardy, Past Commander Stafford A. Lindsay, Past Commander Thomas Dea, the Honorable Philip K. Allen, Rep. J. Everett Collins and Fire Chief C. Edward Buchanan.

Contributions for this worthy cause can be sent to Mr. Cole at the Central fire station.

Invitations have been issued to the selectmen, Police Chief George A. Dane, representatives in the General court, and members of the bar.

In announcing the opening of the annual Red Cross fund campaign for 1949, Roy E. Hardy, chairman of Andover chapter, expresses confidence that Andover will again "go over the top," as it has always done. Mr. Hardy bespeaks the active support of chapter officers and members and the community at large for Ernest S. Young, who will serve as fund chairman.

Mr. Young brings a wealth of Red Cross service and experience to this important task. He has served in this capacity for three years as advance gifts chairman previously, and he now carries year-round Red Cross responsibilities as chapter vice-chairman and coordinator.

The following group chairmen are assisting him in organizing the campaign:

Advance gifts, John B. Cecil, Jr.; Employee groups, Francis Rodenicks; Corporate gifts, Edward C. Nichols; Phillips academy, Frederick S. Allis, Jr.; Abbot academy, Mrs. Ruth Reeves; Business section, T. Augustine Farragher; Residential canvass, Mrs. E. Edward Buchanan; Public schools, Kenneth L. Sherman.

The advance gifts committee, as its name implies, begins operation in advance of the others; so the following members are already at work: John B. Cecil, Jr., chairman; Mrs. John B. Cecil, Jr., E. Francis Leland, Franklin T. Bigelow, William S. Hughes, Douglas S. Byers, C. Carleton Kimball, Philip F. Ripley, Stafford A. Lindsay, T. B. Baraclough, Miles Pendleton, Joseph Allen, Edward P. Dean, Walter E. Caswell, Edgar C. Haselton, Mrs. Glen Grant, Roland H. Sherman, Frank L. Brigham, Philip Clements, Philip F. Hogan, Thomas Burns, David M. Thompson, Howard Porter, Ernest L. Wilkinson, Winsor Gale, Harold E. Abbott.

Monday, February 28, is a date to go on the calendar of all who believe in Red Cross. On that evening, at 6:30, the rally supper for officers, directors, and fund workers will be held at Christ church parish house. The ecanteen, under the able command of Mrs. C. D. McDuffie, will prepare and serve the meal, and a brief program of inspiration and instruction will follow. All active workers are urged to attend this one general Red Cross get-together of the year.

Also on February 28, beginning at 9:30 p. m., the nation-wide Red Cross kick-off radio program for the fund campaign will be presented. General Eisenhower will speak; Miss Helen Hayes and Jimmie Stewart, with supporting actors, will be featured in a specially written tone poem, which will include the music of Wayne King and his orchestra. Then the program will switch to Washington, where Basil O'Connor, president of the American National Red Cross, will introduce President Truman. The ABC network will carry the full program; the three other networks, NBC, OBS and Mutual, will join ABC to pick up the Washington broadcast.

Auto Crash Sends Seven To Hospital

Seven persons from Beverly and Essex were taken to the Lawrence General hospital, two of them with serious injuries, following an automobile accident on Lowell street, near Haggetts' pond about 6 p. m., Monday.

Officers Calvin Deyermund and Richard Caldwell investigated and reported that a machine operated by Charles H. L. Manuel of Essex and containing six other persons, all of Beverly, ran into the rear end of a disabled trailer truck loaded with wool, which was parked at the side of the road. Occupants of the auto were entertained.

Two ambulances were dispatched from the Central fire station and took all seven to the hospital. Mary Manuel Mitchell, 54, was suffering from cuts on the forehead and cheek, and concussion. Lillian Manuel, 38, complained of pains in her hips and lower legs; Blanche Gendron, 23, received cuts on the nose; Jean White, 15, bruises of the forehead and nose; Alvin Mitchell, 27, bruises on the nose; Olive Mitchell and the driver were reported to have escaped injuries.

The truck was owned by the Larabee Transit Co., of Rhode Island, with offices in Lowell. It was operated by George E. Lowe of Lowell, and had been parked at the side of the road for some time awaiting a tow. The driver was in the cab at the time and reported no injuries.
